Dear Foy:

[redacted] of my office was in New York recently to confer with some of your personnel with reference to problems of mutual concern. Among others, he talked to Messrs. Kretzman, Jacobs, Barwine, Erdos and Lowenthal.

At least some of these individuals expressed an interest in seeing a report entitled [redacted] which we published in November 1949 but which apparently never reached VOA. We thought that this report might be particularly useful to you and are indeed sorry that the department here in Washington did not furnish you with copies. I am enclosing herewith three copies of this report for whatever use they may be to you. I must apologize for the difficulty which you will undoubtedly encounter in reading them in their present form. We have no extra copies of the original report and this somewhat questionable method of reproduction seemed to be the most expeditious. I hope that you may find them to be of some value.

Sincerely,
